1 August 1981

Honorable Jane M. Byrne
Mayor of the City of Chicago
Room 500, City Hall
Chicago, Illinois 60602

Dear Mayor Byrne:

Submitted herewith is the Chicago Police Department's annual Statistical Summary for 1980.

Chicago ranks as the fourth lowest in index crimes among the nation's five largest reporting cities—those having one million or more in population, and fifth lowest at 9.5 per cent in violent crimes. The city is listed 48th out of the 53 largest cities reporting on index crimes, per 1,000 of the population.

We are proud of the men and women of the Department for their concerned effort during the past year. We intend to improve upon our record with the assistance of the citizens of Chicago.

This summary is designed for reference by governmental agencies at the city, county, state and national levels and others who may request information from the Department. Also included is a summary of achievements, statistical data and other information.

We are indebted to you, the City Council and other department heads, for continued support of our efforts to give the citizens of Chicago the finest Police Department in the nation.

Sincerely,

Richard J. Brzeczek
Superintendent of Police

Department Highlights for 1980

During the year, a new bureau, the Bureau of Technical Services, was created in addition to the formation of the Organized Crime Division.

The Bureau of Technical Services is designed to coordinate the delivery of technical support services vital to the 1980s Police Department.

The Organized Crime Division is focusing on organized crime activity and the Department is placing new emphasis in that area. The Narcotics Section of the O.C.D. also was formed from the old Narcotics and Gang Crimes Division.

Concentrating on good investigation, reporting and case presentations, resulted in 95 gang members being sentenced to the State Penitentiary. There were 95 gang members sent to the House of Correction, or Cook County Jail. A total of 1,147 other gang members received other sentences during the year.

Early in the year, the Department was tested and passed with outstanding performances during the long, tedious hours of work during the 24-day firefighters strike. The officers distinguished themselves with acts of bravery when they disregarded their own personal safety to rescue and save fire victims from burning buildings.

Meanwhile, the Federal Bureau of Investigation statistics for 1980 revealed that Chicago ranks as the fourth lowest in index crimes among the nation's five largest reporting cities—those having one million or more in population, and lowest at 9.5 per cent in violent crimes. Chicago is listed 48 out of the 53 largest cities reporting on index crimes per 1,000 of the population.

For the first time in five years, Chicago showed an increase in index crimes at 5.3 per cent, but still showed a decrease of 19.2 per cent from the base 1974 year. Violent crimes showed an increase of 3.1 percent. While murder went up only .81 per cent, rape showed a decrease from 1,655 in 1979 to 1,329.

NARCOTICS SECTION

The Narcotics Section of the Organized Crime Division was formed from the old Narcotics and Gang Crimes Division. Highlighted in the section's accomplishments was the seizure of 979 pounds of contraband narcotics, with a street value of $31,236,000. One investigation resulted in the arrest of 64 persons, which marked the largest number of persons taken into custody as a result of a single investigation in the history of the Narcotics Section. The section also confiscated the only laboratory of its kind in Chicago, which specialized in the manufacture of phencyclidine (PCP). The unusual also was uncovered by the section when drug traffickers tried to pass through customs at O'Hare Airport with contraband concealed in hollowed out portions of religiously inscribed wooden doors, and baseballs with the core taken out. Special canine teams were used to ferret out the drugs.

ELECTRONICS AND MOTOR MAINTENANCE

The Electronics Maintenance Division began switching single-line computers in squad cars to multi-line units in the mobile terminal program. The division's technicians also are carrying out a program which allows them to repair many portable radios directly on-site. The motor Maintenance Division also instituted an R-truck program whereby emergency service repair trucks have increased on-site vehicle repairs. Gas consumption was reduced by 471,976 gallons over that of 1979, saving the city $542,772, despite increases in the cost of gasoline.

The Motor Maintenance Division initiated a pilot program utilizing a new model emergency light bar assembly for squad cars. They were installed on 10 Traffic Division vehicles to be used primarily on the city's expressways. The new model provides 200 watts of power as opposed to the 75-watt power of the model in use for the last 10 years. It is equipped with a high-intensity, enclosed spotlight (known as a takedown) light which can be used in situations where it is necessary to illuminate a scene, thus providing protection for the officer. It also has two side lights which operate independently of the warning light system. It can be used to light up dark culverts, passageways, corners and alleys.

ORGANIZED CRIME DIVISION

The Administrative Group of the Organized Crime Division was created and the reorganization of the various elements of the division were implemented. Within the unit, a Special Education Officer program was started. It offers to the public various educational and training programs. It is designed to inform and alert the community to crime problems which fall under the purview of the division and enlist their aid in combatting these problems. The program is set up to be proactive rather than reactive in nature. While responding to requests from the community, the division can identify areas where it can attack ignorance, misinformation and fear so as to eliminate and suppress the criminal influence within the community. Under the program, members of the division attended special training schools and seminars.

NEW ALCOHOL-DRUG UNIT

A new unit, the Alcohol and Drug Assistance Unit, was established for Department members and their families through the Professional Counseling Services office. The unit affords Department members who have problems with alcohol and/or legally prescribed drugs with an objective and non-judgmental resource to which they can go voluntarily for advice and assistance. The Department recognizes alcoholism as an illness, which negatively affects any of the major areas of one's life, such as health, family and work. The individual's initial and continued participation is strictly voluntary in the confidential program. The Professional Counseling Office has helped police families with personal problems, such as marriage, children, depression, stress and work-related issues. It also supplies them with information about community resources available to them.

PREVENTIVE PROGRAMS

The Preventive Programs Division implemented the "Nosy Neighbor" program, which encouraged citizens to report suspicious activities in their neighborhoods, especially that which concerned their next-door neighbors, who might be victims of break-ins.

The division also stressed arson awareness in the districts whereby citizens were alerted to abandoned buildings that would be prone to arson; posted signs on dangerous houses and apartment buildings and informed the public to call the arson hotline if they see any suspicious activities or persons in and around any potential fire hazards.

PAWN SHOP DETAIL

The Pawn Shop Detail arrested 80 persons and recovered pawned/stolen property with a value of $172,656, after investigating 1,684 suspect notices and 177 property tracers.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE

Twenty-six awards for distinguished service to the Department were presented to police officers and to one civilian during the year.

At the annual Police Recognition Ceremony, one Police Medal, 12 Award of Valor, and nine Blue Star Awards for bravery and for sustaining wounds; four Award of Merit and the Richard J. Daley Medal were presented. The Recognition Ceremony is held each year during Police Week when the Department pays tribute to members and acknowledges their exemplary performances of duty.

For the year, no officers died in the performance of duty.

Members of the Gang Crimes Section South, along with their superiors, were honored by the Michigan State Police and Berien County State Attorney's Office for the investigative work and arrest of 13 persons for crimes of rape, robbery, home invasion and weapons violations in the State of Michigan.

Other awards received by officers were the Lambert Tree Award, which is the city's highest commendation for bravery and is presented in special ceremonies in the City Council chambers; Chicago Jaycees Awards; 867 Department Commendations and 18,547 Honorable Mentions.

TYPES OF DATA PRESENTED

The tabulations and graphs which follow give data on crimes reported, on arrests and other results of police performances.

The basis of reporting the data is identified as either the 12-month calendar year or the 13-period, Chicago Police year—each Period contains 28 days.

12—MONTH YEAR (1 January through 31 December 1980)

The 12-Month calendar year (365 days) is used where the date relates to the FBI, City of Chicago and certain other reports.

13—PERIOD YEAR (3 January 1980 through 7 January 1981)

The 13-period year is used so that valid comparisons can be made according to workload.

Each of the 13-periods has 28 days, and each of the four weeks in a period begins on the same day of the week. As a result each week and period, with the same number days, has the same number of Fridays, Saturdays, and Sundays when peak workloads occur.
